The conference is a meeting between experts in Big Data technologies and businesses. The organizers of the conference are an informal group of individuals, universities, communities and companies. We aim to keep the administration of the conference at its simplest and most efficient so you can focus on enjoying it.

Registration scope
The capacity of the conference is limited. The only valid platform to buy the tickets is at XING EVENTS via the Big Data Spain website. Tickets will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Each ticket is nominal and can be transferable individually. A registration to the conference must be paid for in order for its ticket to be accepted. Tickets are the only document that will grant access to the Conference. The organizers will not provide attendance certificates. Tickets grant access to all the talks, coffee breaks and lunches at the venue of the conference.

Ancillary activities
Ancillary activities such as visits to a Data Processing Center, workshops or hackathons have more limited capacity than access to talks. The criteria of access to such activities is by a rigorous first-come first-served basis. The notice of the opening of registrations for ancillary activities will be published via Twitter, on the web or by newsletters. Attendees are expected to find about and sign up to ancillary activities without individual notices by the organization.

Registration fees
All attendees must pay the full registration fee prior to arrival at the conference venue. Attendees are required to produce a print out of their ticket at the registration desk of the conference on their arrival as the only accepted proof of the payment and identification. The print out may be on paper or electronic.

Cancellation Policy
Transfers of tickets between individuals are accepted. Cancellations are managed, processed and charged by XING EVENTS. Attendees can cancel their tickets at a cost to the buyer of 5 € per ticket plus 5.9% of price of the ticket with no exception. Cancellation fees are not refundable under any circumstance, either under the control of the attendee or buyer or otherwise, including force majeure.

The buyer (attendee) is subject to a cancellation service charge of € 16.26 = € 5.95 cancellation fees + € 10.31 XING EVENTS fees

The buyer (attendee) is subject to a cancellation service charge of € 12.75 = € 5.95 cancellation fees + € 6.80 XING EVENTS fees

Code of Conduct
The organization of Big Data Spain assumes that all attendees are well-intended and, collectively, a smart group to work with. This document provides a few guidelines about the expectations and the behaviour of everybody involved in the conference in a way or another.

- Our priority is that the Big Data Spain conference is a safe and productive environment for everyone.

- We will conduct the conference mostly in English, including written and oral instructions and introduction of speakers and sessions. We recommend that you make sure that your fluency in oral and spoken English is sufficient before registering to the conference. If your command of English is poor, your experience conference would not be satisfactory. We may use Spanish in some talks and as an auxiliary language in some cases by the event staff.

- The organizers are reasonable people. We would love the event to run impeccably, in time and be productive for everybody so that you do not even notice us. Please be patient and understanding should any incident or technical glitch show up, from delays or confusion in registration line ups to quality and availability and quality of audio, Wi-fi facilities, drinks and refreshments, etc.

- Please bring any concerns to the immediate attention of the event staff, or contact bigdataspain [at] gmail.com. While we cannot guarantee response times, we will try to help in keeping the event friendly and effective to all participants.
